THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L.

We hope the city council will give residents of Nevada City a chance to vote on whether or not parking meters are to become a permanent fixture.. This vote will have to be taken toward the end of the six months trial period. We should exercise our choice before the parking meters, under the contract with manufacturing company, attain the same status as the sidewalks.

The car drivers most benefited by the meters are those who come into town to shop. We have yet to hear any complaints from out of town shoppers who now can always find a place to park, and at a trifling cost leave their cars adjacent to the various stores where they do their shopping. Complaints have been heard, a great many of them from the business men themselves, who declare the meters are driving their customers to Grass Valley where there are no parking meters.

Under the old rules parking was free up to an hour's time, but often it was very difficult to find a vacancy and shoppers complained that business men left their cars along the street and they, the ones who brought business to the city, had to hunt high and low for a place to leave their cars..

We have heard merchants declare that their business is falling off as a result of the meters. Just how they go about pinning the blame on the meters we would not know, because business can fall off for a great variety of causes, some of them seasonal an some of them due to the factor of competition. But in event, if they can bring some affirmative evidence to bear on their claims, we believe it is entitled to serious consideration, very serious.

Perhaps most shoppers were reconciled to the practice of carrying their parcels two or three blocks to where their cars are parked. Some undoubtedly do resent paying for a parking place, in times past, they never occupied more than an hour. In this case the parking meters appeal to them as a tax on doing business in Nevada City. Unfortunately many of them will not have a vote in the matter but they undoubtedly make their influence felt by complaining to the merchants with whom they wish to trade.

In any event, a lot of idle, space consuming cars have been removed from the business streets to other parking spots where the meter does not raise its greedy hand. There is room to park now., all day, if one has the price and wishes to spend it that way.

Although in this column, a tentative approval has been given parking meters on the plea that the city needs money with which to make much wanted improvements, and if the majority of citizens are seriously inconvenienced, if business is being driven from the doors of our merchants, then we should dispense with the meters while there is time. After all anything new and modern that does not prove a convenience worth its cost, that, in other words does not show some kind of a profit, is bound to fall in the long run. But we do believe the meters should be given a fair trial.

We might add one final word. Tourists this summer will probably do more touring than in any year in the past. The Centennial Celebration will also add greatly to the travel to the many Argonaut shrines in Nevada County. Most of these travelers are will accustomed to parking meter and paying a small fee for a convenient place to park will please, not offend them. There is offered the city among these folks, a source of revevne which otherwise would not be had. These people driving their autos from far places to visit us will find, indeed, the parking meter a very great convenience.

We think some statement on the part of the city council that they will give the voters of Nevada City a chance to vote on parking meters beore the trial period expires, would do more to allay present anxiety and criticism. In a democracy a decision by a majority.

SIERRA COUNTY'S PLEA FOR SNOW EQUIPMENT IS HEARD

ROBERT SEARLS PRESIDE S; 75 SIERRA NEVADA LEADERS HEAR OF AREA

"Give us enough money now to buy a snow plow to keep Yuba Pass cleared and give us your moral and legislative support for a better Sierra County highway program——"

Such was the plea of the Sierra County Chamber of Commerce before members of five northern California boards of supervisors, state officials and members of San Francisco, Sacramento and Reno chambers of commerce.

The complete highway program was discussed following the plea for cooperation at a dinner meeting presided over by Robert Searls, Nevada City born, prominent San Francisco attorney who represented the San Franciso chamber of commerce. The entire group of over 75 were the guests of the Sierra County board of supervisors.

The first speaker introduced by Searls, was Lewis (Red) Huelsdonk, mine operator and president of the Sierra chamber. He spoke of the immediate need for support stressing the relatively small population in Sierra County and the need to solicit outside influence in a program that would help all.

He was followed by John F. Gwinn, Sierra county merchant and secretary of the chamber. Gwinn pointed out on an oversize map the good that would come to a vast area if certain bottlenecks due to weather conditions and unfinished highways were removed. He showed where onl seven miles of Yuba Pass highway are closed during severe storms. He said that from the Downieville district alone this summer would be trucked 35 million feet of timber. A new boy's camp housing 300 youths is a certainty in Sierra Valley this summer and will greatly increase transient travel there according to Gwinn.

"In addition" said Gwinn "with the mining industry viewed with gloom every effort must be extended to provide a highway program that would develop new industrial possibilities in timber, base materials and recreational paradises in winter and summer.

Senator Jesse Mayo was then introduced by Searls. Mayo immediately said that he would be pleased to head a delegation to appear before Charles H. Purcell, States Director of Public Works in an effort to secure "one tiny snow plow". "But", said Mayo, "this continuous request for highway funds must also have the support of the people so that adequate funds are available for worthwhile projects."

Mayo then explained the Collier bill in which huge sums are to be allocated to both Nevada and Sierra ties. "Ours is a billion dollar program worthy of a billion dollar state" said Mayo. He spoke of the rough going the bill may get in the assembly and stated it is a bill for a long range picture from which every man. woman and child will eventually benefit.

The average cost to a motorist, according to Mayo, would be less than 5 cents per day or $16 a year. In return he would receive a greatly improved system that would ultimately mean money in the car owners pocket through reduced insurance rates and car maintenance. He referred to the short sighted policy of oil interests who are hindering the program. California is receiving over 30,000 people a month as permanent residents from eastern states. California has the largest registration of motor vehicles in the US and by 1965 it will have an estimated 8 million cars. All of this points out Mayo, means that California must act with a bold approach to an even greater state than we now have.

Allen G. Thurman, assemblyman, whole heartedly endorsed the program..

After comments by various chambers of commerce a resolution was introduced by Lynn Kelly, Grass Valley attorney which was unanimously adopted by the delegates. The resolution follows:

RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED that the delegates herein assembled, representing the district comprising the Counties of Placer, Nevada, Yuba, Plumas, Sacramento, and Sierra, and the cities of San Francisco, Sacramento and Reno, do hereby go on record as supporting a program for snow removal, maintenance, and further development of State Highway No. 49, with the ultimate purpose in mind of making this route available as an all-year interstate connection.

WHEREAS, the above outlined program is of mutual benefit and importance to the economy of the previously mentioned areas, we, the assembled delegates, further recommend that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the following:

The Hon. Earl Warren, governor of the state of California, Sacramento, Calif.

Charles H. Purcell, director of Public Works, State of California, Sacramento, Calif..

G. T. McCoy, Chief Engineer, Division of Highways, Sacramento.

Charles P. Morris, Regional Engineer, Public Roads Administration San Francisco, Calif.

Perry A. Thompson, Regional Forester, San Francisco.

Charles H. Whitmore, District Engineer, Marysville,, Calif.

CAR PAINTER KILLED IN WRECKING YARD

GRASS VIALLEY—Arthur H. Leighton, 62, recent arrival from Monterey, was instantly killed Thursday afternoon by a speeding automobile, out of control, which hit him in the wrecking yard of Chris Hansen on the Auburn highway a mile and half west of this city.

Leighton was kneeling beside a car which he was painting. He was struck by the onrushing car and pinned against the side of the workshop, with such force that a wrecking truck had to lift away the car before his body could be recovered.

Driver of the car was Albert Lewis, 25, a musician of Lodi, who was accompanied by Edith Hay,, the owner, also of Lodi. Both admitted they had been drinking. Highway patrolmen report that Lewis in making the S turn in front of the Hansen wrecking yard was unable to control his car.

Coroner Alvah Hooper took charge of Leighton's remains. Lewis was placed in the county jail pending an investigation.

Funeral services for Leighton will take place Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Salvation Army in charge. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

GUN TOTING LOCHINVAR GETS 1 TO 25 YEARS

Defense attorney Frank G. Finnegan is pictured with his client Walter H. Chick Sales, as they awaited the jury's verdict in the sensational kidnaping case..

"DEAREST CHICK" LETTERS FAIL TO SWAY JURY; PISTOL FIGURED TOO OFTEN IN VIOLENT CASE

NEVADA CITY: Walter (Chic) Sales, convicted kidnaper of Mrs. Mary Giovannoni of Truckee, was sentenced at 9:30 this morning by Judge of the Superior Court James S. Snell to 1 to 25 years in prison.

The kidnaping for which Sales was sentenced occurred on December 21st, and was one of a long series of violent incidents for which he had been twice arrested and once imprisoned.

District Attorney Ward Sheldon has announced that he would table the jailbreaking case against Sales for possible future action at a later date. The escape occurred on the same day as the kidnaping. Sales, a trusty, had the freedom, not only of the court house and grounds, but also of the town.

The jury of 7 women and 5 men (Nina E. Gaskins, Arthur C. McQuiston, Elsie C. Peard, Frances Hartman, Edson Fox, Dorothy B. Austin, D. M. Loney, Edna Boot, Jesse Ennor, H. B. Dennis, Melba J. Polglase and Ruth R. Lamson.

At the time of the abduction, Sales was serving a term in the county jail here for violating terms of probation. He was a trusty and took advantage of his position as such to phone for a taxi in Grass Valley, steal the sheriff's revolver from his desk, buy a bottle of whiskey and set out on his kidnaping expedition.

Riding out of the west like young Lochinvar, only with the sheriff's .45 in one hand and a bottle of whiskey in the other, Sales was successful in collecting Mrs. Giovannoni at guns point but lost his long odds gamble, when the taxi driver noted the gun and wrested it from him.

The case was disputed in a spirited battle between district attorney Horance Ward Sheldon and defense attorney Frank G. Finnegan. Finnegan tried emphasize a possible element of acquiesence on the part of Mrs. Giovannoni, while Sheldon hammered home the violent character and threats of Sales's expeditions.

In his closing argument, Finnegan called attention to the jury to lettes written by Mrs. Giovannoni to Sales, particularly to two written while he was in the county jail. He state that her letters kept Sales "on the string." In one letter she stated that she would always love Sales, but declined to leave her husband, Geno Giovannoni. She told of Geno's anger upon seeing a letter from Sales, an instructed Sales to write her care of Jerry Stacey, bartender at Cozzi's cafe in Truckee.

GOLD TRAIL RIDERS CELEBRATE FIRST BIRTHDAY WITH PARTY

"MITCH" PAINTER INSTAL LED IN SADDLE AS NEW PRESI DENT

NEVADA CITY: Owen O'Leary won his spurs last Friday night. They were presented to him as a gift from the Gold Trail Riders to their retiring president at an installation and birthday dinner at the National Hotel in Nevada City. The dinner was attended by over 75 members and guests of the organization, including many horsemen from Sacramento, Auburn, Placerville and other cities.

Taking over the reins from O'Leary, was the newly elected president, C. L. "Mitch" Painter who was also presented with a gift—a very clever dinner bell made from horseshoes by O'Leary.

Paul Hughes, as master of ceremonies for the evening reviewed the achievements of the group during the past year and outlined some of the things that they expect to accomplish during the coming year, and introduced the guest speakers.

John Diggs, chairman of the State Riding and Hiking Trails Committee as well as a member of the Sacramento Riding Association, spoke on the part that the riding groups comprising the Calif. State Horsemen's Association such as the Gold Trail Riders, have played in making the State Riding and Hiking Trail possible, and also the work that must be done in the future.

Also from Sacramento were Colonel Kelton and Jim Warren of the Division of Parks and Beaches, under whose jurisdiction the trail will be further developed. Interesting talks were given by both of these men who have been speaking to horsemen's groups all over the state.

Another guest from Sacramento was Mrs. Forbes, editor of "Hoofprints" a magazine published by the Sacramento Riding Association who offered to publish one picture every month of the Gold Trail Riders as publicity for the group.

Lee Perriman, president of the Sacramento Horsemen's Association was also present and outlined things that his group had accomplished and expected to accomplish as regards riding activities.

Representing our own communities were Warren Odell, chairman of the board of supervisors and Frank Rowe, past chairman. Their opinion was that the program of the Trails Committee was sound and that they had given the plan the green light. Both offered their cooperation.

Bud Kyle spoke both as a member of the Gold Trail Riders and representative of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce. The Grass Valley chamber was also well represented.

Officers for the past year were introduced. Secretary Louise Kyle, Treasurer, Jerry Jarrard and the executive board Toni Haspe, Helen

ADVANTAGES OF GOLD TRAIL

A step forward to the opening up of the communities of Nevada City and Grass Valley as a recreational area has been taken as the County Board of Supervisors offered their co-operation in planning the section of the California State Riding and Hiking trail which is to extend from the Mexican border up to the Oregon border and back through the middle of the state to form a "Master Loop."

This project has begun to pass the "planning" stage and to reach the "doing" stage. Trail parties from the Gold Trail Riders who are cooperating with the county and other groups have already ridden the route, some of it through rugged and very beautiful terraine but there is still much to accomplish.

This trail has been made possible by the California State Horsemen's Association of which the Gold Trail Riders is a member group. The bill for a $300,000 appropriation passed through four committees and both houses of the legislature without a single dissenting vote, which is something of a record. This proves, no doubt that it is a project for which the need is great. Not only is it to be used as a trail for horses but as a hiking trail where boy and girl scouts and other groups will be much safer than on the shoulder of a busy highway.

This trail will bring thousands of people and their horses to enjoy the scenic beauty of the country. It is to run at about a 2500 foot altitude—away as much as possible from crowded areas and traffic laden highways.

Those who are working on and for this trail and believe in the project know that there are many obstacles to face in the completion of it. It is a long term program and must have the support of every local organization and individual. Particularly it must be realized that it will be a benefit to the community as well as a pleasure to those who will be privileged to ride and hike along it and view some of the most beautiful scenery that it is possible to enjoy.—R. B.

FINDING OF GOLD AGO RELATED IN EARLY JOURNAL 99 YEARS

By H. P. DAVIS

Ninety-nine years ago, March 15, 1848,—there appeared in the Californian a small item announcing, for the first time in print, the discovery of gold at Sutter Mill.

With no distinguishing headlines the editor of this little four page San Francisco news sheet gave two inches of space on his second page to cover an epoch making event to which the leading newspapers of the world were soon to devote columns and even full pages.

Preceeded by a report of a horse race, to which the editor devoted an equal number of words, this little item read as follows:

GOLD MINE FOUND—In the newly made raceway of the Saw Mill recently erected by Captain Sutter, on the American Fork, gold has been found in considerable quantities. One person brought thirty dollars worth to New Helvetia*, gathered there in a short time. California, no doubt, is rich in mineral wealth, great chances here for scientific capitalists. Gold has been found in almost every part of the country.

*Sacramento.

This discovery at Captain Sutter's mill was by no means the first disclosure of the existance of gold placers in the California territory. As early as 1775 small placers on the Colorado River had been worked by Mexicans. Profitable placer deposits had been found and worked in 1838 at San Francisquetero, about forty-five miles north west of Los Angeles. In 1845 John Bidwell, Captain Sutter's most trusted lieutenant, visited a place twenty-five miles northeast of the Misison of San Fernando which had then been worked spasmodically by Mexians for more than three years. Bidwell, evidently contemptous of the manner in which this operation was conducted, reported to Sutter that the "greasers" working there were averaging only about two-bits a day.

In March 1842 a Mexican herdsman, while digging wild onions, found gold in Santa Feliciana canyon and two ears later a fairly profitable placer was worked at San Fernando.

That gold placers had been found in California some years before Marshall's discovery at Sutter's Mill was unquestionably known to many of the yankee skippers who traded along the Pacific coast for hides and tallow, some of whom had taken California gold in trade and sold it for $16 to $18 an ounce at their New England home ports.

The existance of gold placers in several places had been officially reported by representives of the Mexican and United States governments, each of whom had stressed the potential value of the "gold mines" of this region.

Manuel Castanaves, the California deputy for the Mexican government, had, in two separate reports, called attention to the value of the gold deposits in his department. In a report dated September 1, 1844 he stated "I have the satisfaction of assuring you that it (the mining interest) forms one of the most valuable resources of the department." He stated that, in his departure from Los Angeles in December, 1843, there were in circulation there about 2000 ounces of gold, all extracted from a nearby placer mine.

Even more emphatic regarding the importance of the gold deposits of California were the reports of Thomas Larkin, the United States Consul at Monterey. On May 2, 1846 Larkin wrote to Commodore Montgomery U. S. N. that at San Fernando, "by washing sand in a plate and person can obtain from one to five dollars per day of gold that brings seventeen dollars an ounce in Boston".

"The gold" he said has been gathered for two or three years, though few have the patience to look for it." Later in the same month Larkin wrote James Buchanan, then United States Secretary of State, that there was no doubt that gold, silver, quick silver, copper, lead, sulphur and coal was to be found all over California and he added the somewhat significant remark that "it is equally doubtful whether, under the present owners, they will be worked."

Looking backward a hundred years it is almost inconcievable that the first printed word of the event which initiated the most significant mass migration in our history should have reached the public as an inconspicious two inch item in a four page, small town newspaper more than ten weeks after Captain Sutter and James Marshall had finally concluded that "the" little flakes of ellow metal" found in their mill-race were actually gold.

We now know that for a considerable time prior to Marshall's discovery the government of Mexico and the United States had been officially informed of the potential value of the "gold mines" of the California territory. There can be no doubt that the British government, which until the last moment had hoped to secure this territory, was equally well informed.

Under such circumstances it is indeed singular that the discovery which set in motion the great gold rush should have been made, not by representatives of any government, or of any "scientific capitalist", but by a millwright from New Jersey who knew so little about mines and mining that he was unable to recognize gold when he found it.

RED CROSS DRIVE CROSSES HALFWAY MARK

GRASS VALLEY—Brooks Hartman, Grass Valley chairman of the Red Cross drive, yesterday announced that subscriptions had crossed the halfway mark toward the $4600 quota. Total collected to date is $2461.

Robert Paine, Nevada City chairman, stated that 87½ percent of the Nevada City's quota was now in the bank, namely $2,400. The Nevada City quota includes the Truckee quota, making the total $3,686. Truckee has shouldered 25 percent of this total which leaves Nevada City with approximately $2700 to raise about $300 is still in be contributed. Paine states that in 10 days, the goal will be attained.

LOVE SECRET OF NURSE ANIMATES "SISTER KENNY"

NEVADA CITY—A touching romance extending through the years, but doomed to defeat, is told in RKO Radio's biographical film, "Sister Kenny," playing Wednesday and Thursday at the Broadway Theater. Authentic story of the Australian bush nurse who developed a new treatment for infantile paralysis. Rosalind Russell and Alexander Knox co-star, and Dean Jagger is top featured.

It is not generally known that Elizabeth Kenny fell in love as a young girl with Kevin Connors, (Dean Jagger), an Australian Army officer. Their romance lasted all through their lives and many times the wedding date was fixed, and each time postponed owing to Nurse Kenny's interest in the cause to which she has dedicated her life. A professional ruling barred nurses from marrying unless they left their profession.

TRAIL RIDERS

Dilts and Paul Hughes.

Incoming officers are Vice President Wayne Wainwright, Secretary, Margery Ashburn, Treasurer, Mrs. Jerry Jarrard and the executive board Ed Granholm, Violet Anderson and Owen O'Leary.

Besides marking the installation of the new officers of the club, the dinner was also a celebration of the fact that the Gold Trail Riders Club is now a yearling. A little gangling and awkward yet, but the conformation is there and tht fact that the riders expect to build a sound progressive organization is evidenced by the addition of eleven new trail riders to signal the beginning of a new year of activity.

WARREN ATTACKS OIL COMPANIES ON HIGHWAY PROGRAM

SACRAMENTO — Charging that California motorists are being urged by oil lobbyists to mark "slanted" ballots against a proposed highway construction program now being considered by the Legislature, Governor Warren this week posed a set of qestions of his own.

In his press conference he said that the Governor's Office, unlike the big oil companies, does not have tremendous funds available to flood the State with propaganda.

He said he would like to be able to ask the people of the State for their vote on the following questions:

"1. Do you believe it is more important to be controlled by the financial policies of the oil companies, or to endeavor to save human lives by having decent highways for our people?

"2. Do you believe that we should postpone trying to save human lives now, because it might be cheaper to do it five years from now?

"3. Do you believe it fair for the oil companies to raise the price of gasoline 1½c per gallon, as they have recently done, and to use the money to flood the mails with slanted questions, to blanket the state with misleading propaganda, and to overun the Capitol with lobbyists in order to prevent the people from having good highways?"

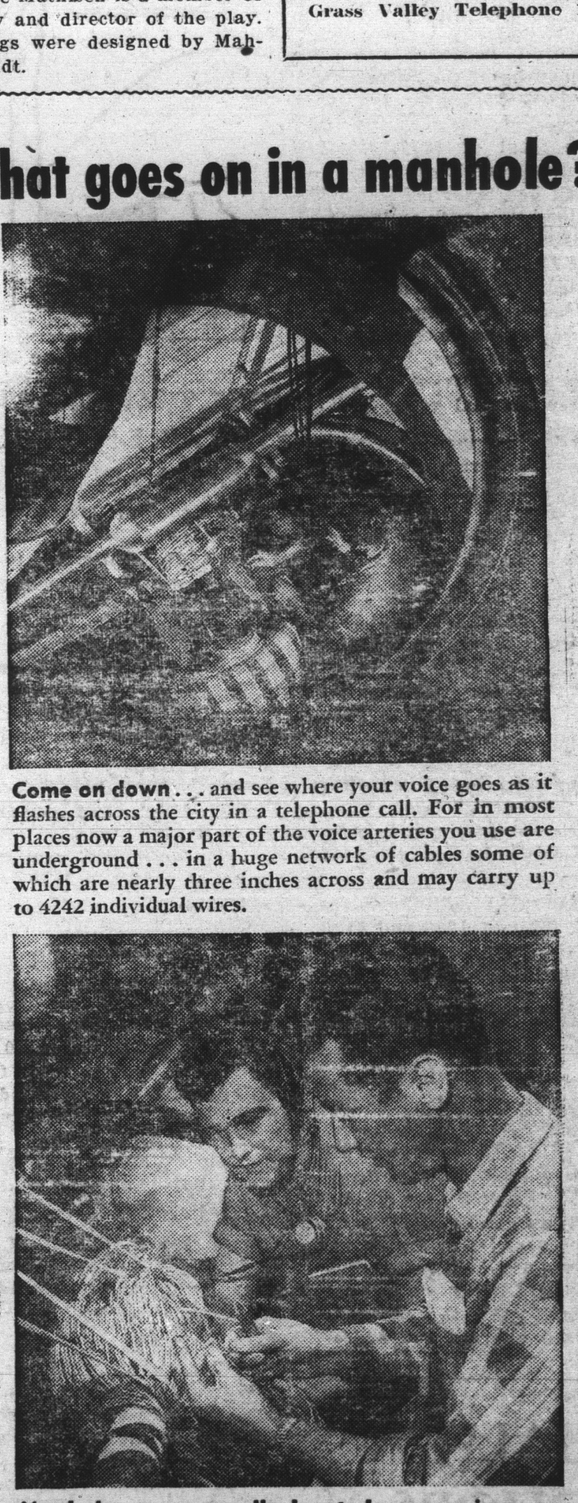
What goes on in a manhole?

Come on down . . . and see where your voice goes as it flashes across the city in a telephone call. For in most places now a major part of the voice arteries you use are underground . . . in a huge network of cables some of which are nearly three inches across and may carry up to 4242 individual wires.



Manholes are normally located at street intersections and they're used to install cable and to facilitate repairs when something goes wrong. The exact location of a break or defect can be spotted quickly with a device known as a Wheatstone Bridge. The "Men Working" signs you see usually mean that cable is being spliced by skilled workmen.

They're busy places, these manholes. During 1946 alone on the Pacific Coast we installed hundreds of miles of underground cable—more than 560,000 miles of individual wires—as just part of keeping pace with the West's tremendous growth. Yes, we are going ahead as rapidly as we can in bringing service to everyone who wants it—and a finer service than ever before.

An ever-improving telephone service at the least cost consistent with good wages and working conditions for our employees and a reasonable return to the thousands of people who have invested in the business.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Do Men Like Women?

Maybe you read that recent article in a national magazine, claiming that American men don't really like the company of women. They just put them up on a pedestal and leave them there.

But I wouldn't say that that was so in our town. Look at any married couple—like the Cuppers. Jane wouldn't nag if Dee spent his evenings "with the boys"—but actually Dee likes nothing better than to stay home by the fire, sharing a glass of beer with Jane, playing cribbage, or just talking.

And when he does go out, for an afternoon of fishing down at Seward's Creek, or for an evening glass of beer at Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern, Jane is almost always with him (except when she's got a spot of baking in the oven).

From where I sit, respect doesn't rule out everyday companionship . . . and never should. They go together—essential parts of a successful marriage.

Joe Marsh

STATE GENERAL FUND SHOWS HEALTHY GAIN

SACRAMENTO: State Controller, Thomas H. Kuchel, reporting on the cash condition of the state general fund as of February 29 today announced that the fund contained an excess of $292,175,618 over current obligations. This was compared with an excess of $136,715,035 on the same date for the preceding year and showed an increase of $32,211,486 over the January 31 figure..

General fund revenues for the first eight months of the current fiscal year gained 23% over the corresponding period one year ago and reached the total of $277,715.452. Kuchel's report desclosed that retail sales and use taxes led the field of revenue increases with an increase of 046,536,901. Inheritance taxes were up $2,614,597; motor vehicle transportation tax increased $1,730,-196 and insurance company taxes, personal income tax, motor vehicle license fees, liquor taxes and licenses, gift tax and private car taxes all showed substantial gains.

Decreases in revenues were noted in bank and corporation franchise and corporation income taxes, off $1,662,207; and in interest on investments, pari-mutuel fees and oil and natural mineral royalties from state lands.

Kuchel reported that general fund expenditures for the first eight months of the 98th fiscal year totaled $172,461,267, off 27% from the same period of the preceding year. The controller pointed out that this necrease was primarily due to statutory transfers to other funds made during the 97th fiscal year.. These transfers included $50u,000 to postwar employment reserve; $90,000,-000 to postwar unemployment and constrction fund; $11,651,490 to the bond sinking fund of 1943 and $12,-000,000 to the highway fund. Partially offsetting these transfers was the return to the general fund of $25,000,000 from the war catastrophe reserve..

Apportionments to counties for elementary schools headed the list of expenditures showing increase with a total of $1,867,280 over the amount for the same period in the preceding fiscal year. Other showing increases were University of California, apportionment to counties for elementary schools and junior colleges aid to needy blind, aid to need aged, aid to needy children and miscellaneous fixed charges and appropriations.

NEVADA CITY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

BROAD STREET

By Harley M. Leete, Jr.

In a memo book, I had made a notation under this date to call up Lloyd Geist and ask him how the new germicidal lamps in the grammar school had worked out. But, since the schools were all closed up last week because of flu and colds, said epidemic setting in a short time after the bacteria killers were installed, I guess I won't bother. No reflection on the new gadgets—can't expect a handful of lights, however good to deflect a city wide flu session.

Speaking of flu, everyone here except The Boss and Mrs. Ruth Bowles, our secretary has been out for a short count with the flu. First it was D. J. Rollins, our ebullient President of the Nevada County Printers Devil Association, then George Richards, our linotype artist. Then Kenneth Ronald Finch, floor man and job printer, next the office boy (me) and out for the count right now is assistant printer's devil Perry Boyce Jackman. It just goes to snow you that leading a good clean, Christian life, the way all we Nugget-eers do, doesn't invariably pay off. Not in this world, that is.

We suggest that Nevada City and Grass Valley hold a Self-Congratulations Day and everybody shake hands with themselves on having gotten through the winter without having any winter. Of course, I remember wearing some chains on my tires for a few days and some moist white stuff lying on the ground, but it couldn't have been snow—not when we had summer instead of winter this winter.

They tell me the glittering days of high-grading are over now. So sad.. The old lunch-bucket rock is just not there any more. The fascination of that gleaming jewelry store ore, they said, used to be something terrific. There's the story for instance of the preacher who was taken on a tour of inspection down in the bowels of a noted mine. The visitors came to a spot where the yellow stuff was sticking right out of the rock. The minister stood and stared, and when the party made their way up the passage, he picked at the piece of high-grade until his fingers bled. So the story goes, anyhow. I can't believe it, myself.

Those legalized slot machines that row our streets in prim, demanding rows have c-e-r-t-a-i-n-l-y solved our parking problem. Now and again the streets seem almost too naked of their custmary clothing of automobiles. But we won't be able to give them a fair and honest trial, with no prejudice to the defendant, until our summer tourist trade reaches the peak of its volume. Most out-of-town visitors have told me that they definitely favor the shiny aluminum gadgets. Oddly enough, that is particularly true of people from that busy city between Hills Flat and LaBarr Meadows.

Parent Problems

Recreation and Sports May Help the Timid, Shy Child

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

THERE are many lonely, timid youths. Most of them were lonely children and many of them will be lonely adults.

Every youth really wants to have many friends of his own age, of both sexes. He feels it a reflection on him if he does not. No doubt his or her strongest longing is to be popular with the opposite sex.

The lonely youth suffers more keenly than most other people realize. His awareness of not having friends, or so many friends as he supposes he should, causes him to grow more uncomfortable and, therefore, to act "queerly." This seeming queerness, in turn renders him less attractive and, therefore, less able to have friends. It is not easy for him to get out of this winding spiral.

A Sympathetic Parent

No sense in our telling him it is his fault he has no friends or has few of them. A very sympathetic parent might, however, show the boy or girl what traits to work on in himself, and what skills to try to develop, in the quest for more friends. But any parent who has often expressed anger and impatience at this child for his lack of friends may be unable to make suggestions effective. Instead, she might merely cause this youth to feel more nearly hopeless.

The most promising procedure is to set the stage so that the youth will have more opportunities to be with others of his age and feel comfortable with them. It is not easy, to be sure, to tell anybody just how to do this. It involves great insight and dexterity. It is a high work of art, indeed.

A Special Bulletin

The foregoing statements are from a special bulletin of mine, "The Lonely, Timid Youth," to be had in a stamped addressed envelope.

You can see now some of the ways in which the mother who wrote the following letter might improve her methods of trying to help her daughter.

"Dear Dr. Myers:—I have a daughter just past sixteen. She is very good in high school and is built very nicely. Her only trouble seems to be that she is very shy in meeting people. She likes to stay home and read books. Does not care to go with friends or make any friends.

Should Have Friends

"I have spoken to her time and again that a girl should have friends and go out with them. I have asked her why she does not want to go more with them. But she does not know what to answer me. How should I go about it as I have tried in a good way and bad way, but I don't seem to have any luck? She meets girls or boys that she knows, says a few words, then she is lost in what to say next. Is there some way that I can make her snap out of this? I have had her friends up to my house but even then she does not talk much to them."

In writing this mother I enclosed the bulletin and tried to explain to her why she could not help her daughter by talking to her about the very shortcomings this child is quite aware of. I called to her attention the positive suggestions of the bulletin—encouraging her to acquire social skills such as in sports, folk-dancing and social dancing, skills in arts and crafts, hobbies and so on; in enriching and broadening her interests in current events, outstanding achievements in the world of sport, music and the screen, through reading magazines and the newspaper—just to name a few. Most of all, I tried to help this mother see that at best a timid, lonely person cannot change herself all at once, that it is a long, hard uphill pull.

A Recipe That Men Will Like

By BETSY NEWMAN

SHORT RIBS are usually favorites with men, and what is better, they are economical. Short ribs should always be cooked long and slowly with moist heat. They are better first browned when you cook them on top of the stove, before adding liquid.

For simple braised short ribs, brown the meat slowly on all sides, then add seasonings, and about ½ c. of liquid. Cover the pan and cook meat over low heat until tender, about 2 to 2½ hours. You can rub the ribs with a clove of garlic before you start cooking, if you like the flavor.

Barbecued Short Ribs is my choice of the dinner dish in this menu.

Today's Menu

Barbecued Short Ribs
Baked Potatoes
Broccoli
Celery and Apple Salad
Cinnamon Circles
Tea or Coffee

Barbecued Short Ribs

3 lbs. short ribs	3 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
2 tbsps. lard or drippings	1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 medium onion	½ c. diced celery
¼ c. vinegar	2 tbsps. salt
1 c. catsup
½ c. water

Have ribs cut into sections 2 to 3 in. long; brown in lard or drippings. Brown minced onion; add all remaining ingredients to short ribs. Cover and cook slowly or bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 1½ to 2 hours, or until tender. Serves 4 or 5.

Cinnamon Circles

1 tbsp. cream cornstarch	4 tsps. baking powder
1 c. fruit juice	4 tbsps. shortening
2 c. canned or cooked fruit	½ to ¾ c. milk
1½ c. sifted flour	2 tbsps. butter or margarine
½ c. cream cornstarch	2 tbsps. enzyme-converted corn syrup
¾ tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon

Blend the 1 tbsp. cream cornstarch with part of the fruit juice; gradually add remaining fruit juice and cook 3 min. or until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add fruit. Mix and sift flour, cornstarch, salt and baking powder together; cut in shortening, add milk to make a soft dough. Roll dough into an oblong ¼ in. thick and spread with butter or margarine, syrup and cinnamon. Roll up like jelly roll and cut into 1-inch slices. Heat fruit mixture to boiling, pour into baking dish, place cinnamon rolls on top and bake at 425 deg. F. 30 min. Serves 8.

April showers bring hospital flowers. Whether entering your home, office building or fator, watch out for slippery shoes caused by wet pavements. The National Conservation Bureau reports that 27,800 persons suffered accidental death from falls in 1945. That's almost a third of all accidental deaths that year.

Production of whiskey and automobiles will rise this year, according to an announcement by the Department of Commerce. But don't mix them. Traffic safety experts of the National Conservation Bureau warn that drunk driving is one of the worst kilies on our streets and highways.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Writer

A CHICAGO inventor suggests the building of dirigible balloon houses. The plan so far, unfortunately, is in the dream and not the blueprint stage.

At that, an airborne bungalow would enable a householder to be a stay-at-home and a gad-about at the same time.

The inventor didn't say, however, how he'd manage to give the flying house a constant supply of hot and cold running water.

One advantage of a sky-cruising mansion would be the lack of a lawn to mow and sidewalks to free from snow. However, there'd be the nuisance of constantly sweeping clouds off the front porch.

The home in the heavens would be piloted from the living room. However, the back-seat driving advice would, no doubt, be supplied from the kitchen.

Since the flying house can be made to follow the seasons Florida's winter population would be in the neighborhood of 140,000,000.

Grandpappy Jenkins thinks the sky mansion is an excellent idea. He visualizes what fun it would be to hide in the clouds when one sees a bill collector or in-laws taking off in his direction.

Burton Wilcoxson and Bride Visit Grass Valley

GRASS VALLEY—Burton Wilcoxon and his bride, the former Miss Margaret Chimits of Mesa, Arizona, have arrived in Grass Valley to visit for a short time Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Wilcoxon of Walsh Street.

The couple were married in Zurich, Switzerland on December 20th. Both were serving in the department of commerce of which Wilcoxon was chief of the chemical unit investigating German chemical processes and secret developments. His bride was his secretary.

The couple left Carlsrube, Germany, by train, and took a Holland American liner at Rotterdam, Holland, for New York. While in the east, Wilcoxin resigned from the government service. He will engage in business as a consultant chemical engineer, and expects to make his headquarters on this coast.

Results of Wilcoxon's studies in Germany will be made available to American business interests and is expected to result in tremendous savings in the manufacture of chemicals.

Baked Stuffed Frankfurters Make a Favorite Dinner Dish

By BETSY NEWMAN

FRANKFURTERS are a favorite supper or dinner dish, and today I'm suggesting you serve them stuffed for a change, and make a Mustard Sauce to serve with them.

With such a start, a simple, light dessert is best, so I'll give you Pineapple and Raspberry Neapolitan, which sounds flossy and possibly difficult, but really is simple.

Today's Menu

Stuffed Baked Frankfurters with Mustard Sauce
Baked Potatoes Baked Squash
Pickles
Pineapple and Raspberry Neapolitan
Coffee or Tea

Stuffed Baked Frankfurters

3 tbsp. melted shortening or drippings	1 tsp. chopped parsley
3 tbsp. grated onion	¼ tsp. pepper
3 tbsp. finely chopped celery	2¼ c. enriched bread crumbs
	½ c. water
	12 frankfurters
	¾ tsp. salt

Add onion, celery, parsley, salt and pepper to shortening in skillet and brown 5 min. Add this mixture to bread crumbs. Mix with water. Make a lengthwise slit in each frankfurter and open. Spread dressing on cut side of one frankfurter, top with second frankfurter. Secure each end with a toothpick. Bake in a greased, shallow pan in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 30 min. Serve with Mustard Sauce. Serves 6.

Mustard Sauce

1 tbsp. shortening	½ c. boiling water
1 tbsp. flour	2 tsp. prepared horseradish
2 tbsp. prepared mustard	⅓ c. vinegar
3 tbsp. sugar	⅓ c. mayonnaise
	1 tsp. salt

Melt shortening in top of double boiler, add flour and cook 1 min. Add mustard, sugar, water, salt and horseradish, stirring constantly. Add vinegar and mix well. Cook 10 min. Cool slightly, then whip in mayonnaise. Makes 1¼ c.

Pineapple and Raspberry Neapolitan

1 pkg. lemon flavored gelatin	1 c. boiling water
1 c. boiling water	1 c. canned or fresh raspberries and juice
1 c. canned pineapple juice	2 or 3 slices canned pineapple, chopped
1 pkg. raspberry flavored gelatin

Dissolve lemon gelatin in boiling water, add canned pineapple juice. When cold, whip and fold in the chopped canned pineapple. Turn into round or square mold, filling half full. Dissolve raspberry flavored gelatin in cup of boiling water, add raspberry juice, whip and fold in berries. Pour in to mold after lemon gelatin has hardened. Fresh pineapple should not be used. Serves 6.

Land of Unions

In Stockholm this summer I had a delightful visit with Mr. Gunnar Anderson, vice president of the Swedish Federation of Trade Unions. Mr. Anderson is a well informed, intelligent man, who recognizes clearly the problems of both management and labor as well as the rights and responsibilities of each. He answered questions I put to him in a forthright manner, giving statistics and figures from memory.

Labor unions in Sweden have been operating for more than 50 years. The Federation is composed of 46 separate unions representing trades or divisions of trades. Membership totals 1,106,000, a most amazing number in view of the total Swedish population of only 6,000,000. The Socialist Democratic party, strongest among the ranks of labor, is also the controlling party in the government.

No Closed Shop

Yet, despite the preponderance of labor's voice in the affairs of Sweden, Mr. Anderson told me that labor fears the closed shop. Said he: "Our federation opposes the closed shop. We oppose it on the ground of individual freedom. We believe any citizen should have freedom to join a union or not to join a union and to work where he wishes. This plan has worked well in Sweden. Most of the workers recognize the value of the union and do join, but they are not compelled to do so."

Labor-management relations are excellent throughout most of Swedish industry. One reason for this is the constant effort put forth by the Federation to improve understanding between employers and employees. Many special committees made up of both management and labor are continually at work for better understanding.

Outside Influence

Disagreements and strikes are not common in Sweden; it is a land of little labor trouble. But when the need arises, "negotiation" committees attempt to reach an agreement, but if that fails the parties involved resort to "conciliation." Mr. Anderson stated that conciliation is preferred to arbitration because it keeps the responsibilities of the parties involved.

However, an important strike affecting 100,000 metal workers raged five months last year. "The strike was really unfortunate," said Mr. Anderson. "The strikers did not gain more than one-third of a cent per hour more than they were offered before the strike. Of course, that amount will never repay the 45 million kroner they lost in wages during the strike. I advised against the strike from the beginning." Later I was told that the strike actually was caused by Communist influence in the metal workers union.

Which Do You Prefer?

The nationalization issue has been discussed extensively in Sweden. However, there is no intention on the part of labor to ask for nationalization, chiefly because private enterprise is, as Mr. Anderson pointed out, "doing all right." Labor has no reason to think it would fare better under nationalization, and it was Mr. Anderson's view that even the status of labor unions would be questionable under complete nationalization.

Growing thoughtful, Mr. Anderson continued: "Private corporations and government managed corporations could not be expected to compete. Government, through use of taxes and other methods, could always come out on top, so it is best to have either state management or private management, not a mixture of the two. We prefer private."

ARM SIGNALS

Know and give arm signals. Signals with the arm—not just the hand—as prescribed by the Motor Vehicle Code are simply a matter of common courtesy and have proved an excellent safety measure.

There's nothing like self support to bring on self respect.

TO SILENCE HORN

When a motorist's horn is blowing continuously in traffic due to either a short circuit or jammed horn button, the National Automobile Club suggests removal of one of the wires leading to the horn. It makes no difference which wire; either breaks the circuit and silences the horn.

Buttoned Sheath

Midnight blue duvetyn evening dress.

IF YOU like a slim sheath of a frock for evening wear, then this model should be of interest. It is really a warm, cosy affair for all its stark lines and deep hem slit, for it is of midnight blue duvetyn that is wrapped around the figure. It buttons over one shoulder and below the armhole and continues all the way down to meet the long skirt slit. The buttons are silver. We don't mind telling you that this is one of the season's big successes.

STEVENS THANKS THE NUGGET FOR CONCERT HELP

Grass Valley Calif.
March 10, 1947

The Nugget.
Nevada City, California

Dear Editor:

We wish to thank the Nugget for its splendid co-operation in publicizing each concert attraction in our Community Concert series just concluded last week. The success of the organized community concert plan largely depends upon the local press.

The fact that scores of stories appeared in your paper for the movement both in its campaign for membership and the presentation of each concert is a tribute to the local press and speaks well for the community spirit of its Editor Harley Leete.

Thank you again for assisting us in getting the story of the Community Concert Association across to the many music lovers of Nevada County in this—our first year.

SQUEAKS AND RATTLES

Periodic tightening of all nuts, bolts and screws on your car is advised by the California State Automobile Association. Squeaks and rattles are symptoms of need for the tightening up.

You'll find that if you're too far ahead of the procession you're just as much alone as though you were way behind it..

U. C. MAN DESCRIBES PSYCHOMOTOR EPILEPSY

SAN FRANCISCO: Psychomotor epilepsy one of the lesser known clinical types of epilepsy and one which responds well to proper medication is much more prevalent than has been supposed.

This is noted by Dr. Charles D. Aring, professor of neurology in the University of California Medical School in the current issue of California Medicine.

In this type of epilepsy, emotional disorder is a frequent manifestation of the seizure, Dr. Aring states. He added that psychomotor epilepsy is often confused with petit mal, a mild epileptic seizure. Dr. Aring says physicians may make the distinction if it be remembered that petit mal occurs rarely in adults and that it is usually of brief duration, five to 30 seconds usually without movements or activities except in or about the eyes.

"Any person experiencing rather short eposides of unusual behavior for which he has no memory might well be suspected of suffering from attacks of psychomotor seizures" Dr. Aring writes.

"It is of extreme importance to make this diagnosis correctly since the disorder responds so nicely to the anticonvisement drug, dilatin or phenobarbital, properly administered."

REASSESSMENT NOT TO HEAVILY INCREASE TAXES

GRASS VALLEY — Mayor W. Alison Simmons announced last week that the current re-assessment of Grass Valley property now being made will not heavily increase taxation as rumored.

The mayor said it will be several months before the reassessment program is completed, and will not be adopted until the city council has reviewed each assessment and heard all property owners who wish to appear before the council.

"Up to this time", the mayor said, "the assessed property values have been so unequal that a small percentage of the property owners contributed largely to the cost of the city government while other property owners almost completely escaped taxation. We submit that this is not fair."

The mayor stated there will be no inirease in taxes for the coming fiscal year. The same rate and assessment will be made as last year. The new assessment schedule will go into effect for the fiscal year beginning July 1st, 1948.

WARREN FAVORS STAND-BY RENT CONTROL LAW

SACRAMENTO — Governor Earl Warren revealed in a recent press conference that he favors early passage by the Legislature of a "stand-by" State rent control law which would become effective only in the event that Feeral rent controls are abandoned.

The Governor expressed the hope that Federal controls will continue. He said:

"If we do have a rent control law in California, which I hope will not be necessary, I want to see it administered on the local level rather than through a State bureaucracy.

"I want the counties to have the right, when the need for houses and the number of houses available are in balance, to take themselves out from under the provisions of rent control. I want the bill to be on a year to year basis so that rent control will not become permanent under our law, and to permit each session of the Legislature to appraise our needs for such control."
